LATEST INTELLIGENCE

By Telegraph to the New-York Daily Times.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Return of Minister French to New-York.

A Push to be Made for the Election of Banks Pro-Slavery.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Nov. 29.

Minister FRENCH returned to New-York to-night, positively contradicting the consolidation of his constituents into a more compromising shape.

Your correspondent knows, from good pretty sure, that they will vote against Banks for Speaker, and that they will not return.

The Republicans contemplate a meeting in the morning to determine whether they will push for the election to-morrow. If a vote is pressed, I think Mr. Banks will go through. Such is the present tendency of affairs.

Judge GRIMES of Missouri is said to have decided conscientious scruples against the compromise, and will not be a candidate for Speaker, and Mr. GOLD is the man in the Supreme Court, and are in direct conflict. S.

The Original Copy of the Declaration of Independence—Senator Douglas—The Organization.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 20.

The report that the original copy of the Declaration of Independence has been stolen from the Patent Office, and a counterfeit one substituted, is untrue. The original has been there for fourteen years undisturbed.

Judge DOUGLAS has written to his friends that, although suffering severely from an inflamed throat, he expects to be in Washington early in January.

The debate in the House to-day attracted a dense crowd. The discussions serve but to render more apparent the difficulties in the way of an organization.

Exciting Day in the House—The Preparation to elect the Speaker by Ballot—Discussion on Know-Nothingism, &c.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Dec. 19.

We have had another interesting day in the House. Mr. WARNER opened the ball with a brief speech, defining his position as a National Know-Nothing, and a resolution providing for the election of a Speaker by ballot. The mode of voting now is viva voce. The name of each member is called, and he calls out the name of the gentleman for whom he votes. Thus every vote is public. Each member knows precisely where every other stands. Mr. WARNER's proposition is that the voting shall be by sealed written ballot. Its only possible advantage consists in enabling gentlemen who may be afraid to act openly and aboveboard, to evade their responsibility to public sentiment. It is creditable to the House that the resolution received only seven affirmative votes on the yeas and nays. The Colonel is unfortunate in his demonstrations at Washington. If he wants to vote for Mr. RICHARDSON, he might at least be willing to do it in the light of day, so that his constituents may pass upon the act, and if he finds that his Anti-Nebraska pledges cannot bind him to vote with the Anti-Nebraska men, and that it is his duty, therefore, to vote for Mr. BANKS from pride or an honest man should overcome the false guide which prompts persistence in a wrong to its extinguishment and abandonment.

MR. FULLER RESUMES HIS POSITION.

The next exhibition was that of Mr. FULLER, of Pennsylvania, who, in order to relieve Southern Know-Nothings who had been voting for him down principle, came forward and immolated himself. He declared his position—said he was a National man, opposed to the extension of Slavery, but willing to leave the question entirely to the people of the States and Territories. In short, he took the broad ground of Squatter Sovereignty. Having done this he boldly challenged the "Grand Inquisitors" of the House to put the screws to him.

HIS FIRE IS HERE WANTED.

This was bold and manly so far; but mark the sequel. He had said that he would vote for the admission of Kansas either as a Free State or as a Slave State. Mr. SAGE inquired whether, if the proposition to restore the Missouri Compromise should be made, he would vote for or against it. He replied that if that compromise could be restored, he would be in favor of it. Mr. SAGE pressed his question, and insisted on a categorical answer, which Mr. FULLER failed to give—thus flinching at the very first flash in the contest which he had inflicted.

A STARTLING AND A RALLY.

The effect upon the Southern Know-Nothings was instantaneous. They were unwilling to trust a man who hesitated to go as far as the farthest of the Pro-Slavery men on that issue. So they stampeded, and began to scatter their votes about here and there, instead of for FULLER, as before. Mr. FRANCIS WALKER saw that this would not do, because the South would never forgive himself and his friends for voting for an "unsound" Northern man, even under a misapprehension as to his position. There was no safety for them except in the crucifixion of their Pennsylvania candidate. So they trotted him out again for another turn around the course.—Mr. WALKER again inquiring whether he would or would not vote for the restoration of the Missouri Compromise. This time Mr. FULLER said he would not, and then his Southern friends again cast their votes for him.

REACTION—WHERE ARE THE ANTI-NEBRASKA KNOW-NOTHINGS.

But this avowal of his Pro-Slavery affinities repelled upon the Northern men who had voted for Mr. FULLER. Mr. TOWN, of Pennsylvania, indignantly declared that had he not supposed his colleague true on the Nebraska question, his right arm should have withered ere he gave him his vote. Mr. BALL, of Ohio, also was startled by the development, and cast his vote for Mr. BANKS. The scene was a rich one, decidedly. But where are Messrs. HAVEN and GREENWOOD, and other Anti-Nebraska men who have been voting for Mr. FULLER? Mr. HAVEN declares himself in favor of restoring the Missouri Compromise. I believe; how then happened he to vote for FULLER after he had thus disclosed the fact that he was so decidedly opposed to the restoration as RICHARDSON himself,—that in fact he stood on precisely the same platform with the Administration Party on this quest on?

SIGNS AND INDICATIONS OF A DAY.

Col. WENTWORTH will not deny that, in the Legislature of New-York, he advocated and voted for the Black-Ultra resolutions, denunciatory of the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, in favor of its restoration, and against the admission of Kansas as a Slave State. That was his platform in the canvass which sent him to Congress. He came here on such pledges for his future course; and yet he, too, voted for Mr. FULLER, after he had proved himself an entirely satisfactory Pro-Slavery candidate. It strikes me that the Northern men who pursue this game, so utterly inconsistent with themselves, so violative of every honorable obligation, will be placed by their constituents, sooner or later, where the dogs won't bite them. Mr. FULLER, of course, destroyed himself, to save his friends. He erred, in the beginning, in challenging interrogatories. Having done this, he erred grievously in flinching, at all, at Mr. SAGE's question; and, having once declared his sentiments to be in favor of the restoration of the Missouri Compromise, he erred most weakly and most fatally in declaring that he would not vote for its restoration. That said, he might well apply to himself his own quotation, "Let the dead past bury its dead."

THE RIGHT—WHERE AND THE WRONG.

I will not attempt to anticipate the proceedings of to-morrow, for we cannot tell what a night may bring forth. Christmas is approaching, and that will make a breaking, I trust, if one is not obtained before. If the contest is to continue, it is to be hoped measures will be taken to preserve better order in the House and galleries than we have had thus far. It is now clear that the House is without rules for its guidance—but surely the Clerk, who presides, can suppress all clapping and applause? He chooses to make the effort. I would suggest to Mr. FENTON, since that he will retire from the Chairship a good deal more gracefully, if he will try to remember that disorder is quite as disagreeable when his political opponents are speaking, as when his own friends have the floor. Certain it is that, to-day, he seemed to care very little about preserving order, when Anti-Nebraska men were addressing the House.

MR. RICHARDSON AND HIS SUCCESSOR.

Mr. RICHARDSON is very anxious to return to the United States, but the resignation of his Secretary of Legation, Mr. JEFFERSON, makes it absolutely necessary for him to remain at his post until the correspondence in regard to the Black collisement affair shall have been closed, and his successor appointed. Mr. HAMLIN has only within a few days received his credentials. Lord CLARENDON wants to have the back on this subject, of which I mention, gone two or three weeks ago, so that it must be at least three weeks before we can hear more from England in regard to the matter. In the meantime the President is looking about him for a suitable person to be accredited to the London mission. At present his inclination is to nominate Senator TOOMBS, of Connecticut, and I think he will be the man, although delay may result in the selection of some other gentleman. S.

XXXIVth CONGRESS—First Session.

SENATE.... WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 20.

PRIVATE CLAIMS.

Mr. BRODHEAD, from the Committee on Claims, submitted a report that all private claims on which adverse reports were made, or indefinite, during the last session of Congress, which were pending at the close, and which claims are founded upon any law of Congress or regulation of the Executive Departments, or contract, express or implied with Government, and which the claimants choose to prosecute before the Court of Claims, be referred to said Court. The report was adopted.

THE CASE OF JUDGE CUSHING.

On motion of Mr. CASS, the protest of members of the Illinois Legislature against the election of Mr. TRUMBULL was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. TRUMBULL presented evidence showing that he ceased to be Judge, and was succeeded by another two years before his election to the Senate. The evidence was similarly referred, and the Senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 20.

The House resumed voting for a Speaker with the following result:

Banks	104	Fuller	74
Richardson	71	Scattering	10

A NEW PROCEEDING.

Mr. HAYS, of Ala., said the result of the vote just announced is a pretty fair indication that no result will be reached to-day. Wishing to promote by degrees the business of the House, he proposed to proceed to the selection of two Standing Committees—one to be the Committee of Ways and Means, and the other Foreign Affairs—the Northern Party nominating four members thereof, the Administration Party three, and the Corporal's Guard, of the South, assisted by members from the North, two. These Committees to select their Chairman by a majority vote, the Chairman to preside over the ordinary business of the House alternately till a Speaker is elected. He proposed that one hour be devoted to the introduction of bills to be hereafter referred to appropriate Committees, members to be then sworn in by the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means; the House next to proceed to the election of a Clerk, Postmaster, Sergeant-at-Arms, Doorkeeper, and last but not least, a Chaplain, through whose prayers, perhaps, some oil may be thrown on the troubled waters.

This is no time for crimination and recrimination. We want harmony and concession.

Several gentlemen objected, but the plan specified in the law of 1789 was in the way, as it prescribes that a Speaker and Clerk shall first be elected, and members sworn in by the Speaker before proceeding to any other business.

Mr. CHRISTIANCY (Democrat) admonished his Democratic friends to adhere to their position and platform.

A WARNING TO THE REPUBLICANS.

Mr. McMULLIN warned the SEWARD Black Republicans that if the Government ever passed into their hands and they restored the Missouri restriction and repealed the Fugitive Slave Law, the Union must and will be dissolved. The declaration of that fanatical gray, headed man to the contrary notwithstanding.

ANOTHER DISCUSSION ON KNOW-NOTHINGISM.

Mr. ZOLLICOFFER assigned the reasons why he could support neither RICHARDSON nor BANKS, saying that he and his friends stand on Middle and National grounds which all might occupy without compromising principles.

Mr. WINTER, of Tenn., contended that however patriotic the American Party here may be, they are, by their votes, making the extension of the Naturalization Laws paramount to every other consideration.

Mr. COX recognized no one as a member of the American Party who does not stand on the twelfth section of the Philadelphia Platform. He said a Speaker could be elected immediately if Democrats would come over to his side, but Americans have no power to carry over all their forces to RICHARDSON.

Adjourned.

United States Court.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 20.

Cause No. 22—Jacob Kissell, plaintiff vs. The President and Board of Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools.—Argument was concluded by Reverdy Johnson for plaintiff.

No. 26—Robert H. McCreedy et al., Claimants of steamer Bay State vs. Goldsmith Wells et al.—This cause was submitted to the consideration of the Court on the record and printed argument. Mr. Lord for appellants, and Cutting for appellees.

No. 24—The United States vs. Catesby.—Argued by Mr. Jones and Carlisle for defendant. Submitted with printed argument by Attorney-General for plaintiff.

No. 25—United States use of James Mackey et al. plaintiffs vs. Richard S. Coxe.—Argument commenced by Mr. Chilton for plaintiff, and continued by Mr. Carlisle for defendant.

South Carolina Legislature.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Thursday, Dec. 20.

The South Carolina Legislature adjourned sine die last night. The bill to give the election of Presidential electors to the people was lost. The bill relating to the imprisonment of negro seamen was not reached. The bill to prevent non-residents from hunting or ducking in the State was passed.

The meeting called to consider the affairs of Kansas declined to act, for want of reliable information.

A meeting of the members of the Legislature called to appoint delegates to the Cincinnati Convention, did not act, for want of time, but it is understood that over fifty of the members are in favor of having the State represented in the Democratic National Convention.

Diabolical Attempt to Fire a Home for Friendless Children.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, Dec. 20.

An attempt was made at an early hour this morning to set fire to the Northern Temporary Home for Friendless Children, in this City. Fire was kindled in the lower part of the building, but was fortunately speedily extinguished. One hundred children were sleeping in the upper portion of the building.

From Buenos Ayres.

BOSTON, Thursday, Dec. 20.

We have from Buenos Ayres dates to the 2d inst. It was reported that the forces of Gen. HAZER had been defeated by the Indians on the southern frontier. It was also stated that a force under Gen. GOROMA had revolted. URQUIZA's troops, it was believed, had crossed the Arroyo del Medio, and great danger was felt in consequence.

Exchange on London was quoted at 67.

Letter from Havana.

NEW-ORLEANS, Wednesday, Dec. 19.

The steamship Black Hawk has arrived at this port with Havana dates to the 15th inst. There is no political news of interest. The market for sugars was not so brisk, and buyers were scarce.

Disaster to the Ship Telegraph.

BALTIMORE, Thursday, Dec. 20.

The ship Telegraph, fourteen days out, from Baltimore for Australia, was boarded off the bar yesterday, and found to be leaking. The Captain's leg was broken during a gale on the 2d inst. The disaster was occasioned by the vessel drawing too much water when crossing the bar. She was compelled to proceed to Savannah for repairs.

The Prohibitory Liquor Law in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Thursday, Dec. 20.

The opinions of the Judges of our Supreme Court in a case involving the Constitutionality of the Prohibitory Liquor Law have been delivered. Judge PERRIN and DAVIDSON are against the law in toto. Judge STEWART sustains it, except the manufacturing, search and seizure confiscation, and the agency clauses. Judge GOULDER sustains the whole law.

Loss of the Schooner George Hage.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, Dec. 20.

The steamship New-York, from Boston, came in collision yesterday morning off Montauk, with the schooner George Hage, bound for Boston. The latter sunk in ten minutes afterwards. The crew were all saved. During the collision Capt. FREE and MICHAEL JAMES were severely hurt.

The Amoskeag Veterans.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, Dec. 20.

The Amoskeag Veterans arrived here this afternoon, and were received by the National Guard, Philadelphia Grays, and Washington Grays. They were reviewed by General PATTERSON. This evening they will be entertained by the Washington Grays, at their armory.

Superintendent of the Albany Penitentiary.

ALBANY, Thursday, Dec. 20.

LOUIS D. PELLIMONY was to-day appointed Superintendent of the Albany Penitentiary for three years, from the first of March, in place of his father, Captain PELLIMONY, who is now Superintendent at Ward's Island.

The Southern Mail, &c.

BALTIMORE, Thursday, Dec. 20.

New-Orleans papers of Friday last are to hand, they contain no news of sufficient interest to telegraph.

The Racket troupe left Charleston on Tuesday for Havana.

The Pittsburg and Steubenville Railroad.

BALTIMORE, Thursday, Dec. 20.

A bill has been reported in the Virginia Legislature, giving the right of way to the Pittsburg and Steubenville Railroad.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Sub-Marine Explorations.

Major SEBAS read a very interesting paper, last evening, before the Geographical Society, on the subject of Sub-Marine Explorations, and the various mechanical contrivances in use at different periods, by sub-aqueous explorers. Establishing in the minds of his audience the importance of any invention by which the hidden mysteries of the deep might be explored thoroughly and with safety, was an easy task, and consequently he dwelt but briefly upon its interest to the Geologist, to the Naturalist and to the Commercial world; and then passed to consider at great length the several improvements made in diving-bells, from the time the Greek diver at Toledo put their heads in kettles down to the present, when the machine known as the Nautilus, is used. The Nautilus is a favorite with the Major, and he therefore detained his audience until after 10½ o'clock, while he discussed its merits and demonstrated its superiority over all others. The principal advantage claimed for the Nautilus over others is, that in using it, reservoirs of condensed air are employed. These reservoirs remain on the surface of the water, where they may be anchored, and from them the machine itself operated. It is not our purpose to describe the machine minutely, as that has already been done, and therefore, to those not particularly interested in the subject of diving bells, we suppose we have stated all that is necessary when we say that from the reservoirs of condensed air there is a tube connecting with a chamber in the upper part of the machine, through which, by an arrangement of valves, the chamber may be filled and the machine made to rise, or emptied, and the machine depressed at the will of the operator. There is, besides, a tube through which conversation may be carried on between those below and those above, which is a vast improvement on the old system of signals. Altogether, the Major considered the Nautilus as adequate to the requirements of successful pearl fishing, coral gathering, and building breakwaters and docks.

Furniture at Auction—Sharp Sellers.

Here is a profitable trick of the auctioneers—especially the furniture auctioneers. Some of them find occasionally that their down-town stores bring them but thin profits; selling the same sofas, sideboards, bookcases over, for twenty times a month, can't pay very well. In this emergency, they transport their crockery and lightly varnished wares to their private dwellings, and dispose them in their various rooms according to the conditions of light required to show them to best advantage and to conceal the cracks. Upon an appointed day the red flag is run out, and all the neighbors flock in to buy the "elegant furniture, just as good as new, which is to be sold to foreclose a mortgage," or, "by order of the Sheriff." The distressed ladies of the family move about modestly, grieving apparently at the loss of their household gods. The neighbors bid liberally and get splendid bargains—giving, unwittingly, for each article, 33 per cent, more than would have been taken glad y at the salesroom down town. Some houses that we could designate have had their furniture sold out in this way about once a week throughout the year.

Rowdies in the Streets.

If a man will stay in his own house, nights, and keep his doors locked, he is pretty safe in New-York. With our model Police arrangements, he is not likely to be damaged by ruffians in his own parlor, unless at some time he has foolishly affronted the sovereign crew. But, if a man will go out nights, he must expect to be knocked down. We would like to know what right an honest man has to be away from his family after dark. And what business has anybody who has a home to be away from it, except by daylight. Some folks act as if they thought it was the special function of policemen to take care of well-behaved people. Wiser men know that their special duty is to keep scoundrels from making too much fuss about it while prosecuting their rascalities, and to help ladies cross the street at STEWART's. If men don't want to be outraged, let them stay "within their sphere," and not tempt either "artists" or "suckers."

Assault by Rowdies.

JOHN MULLEN, residing at the corner of Tenth-avenue and Sixty-first-street, was attacked at 10 o'clock on Wednesday night in Eighth-avenue, near Forty-ninth-street, by some rowdies, who beat him until he was almost senseless, and then fled. The Twenty-second Ward Police found him and took him to the Station-house.

Marvellous Gratitude.

We have no new fight at the "Belle Union" to record this morning. Nor has any gang of ruffians entered the City Hotel to disturb the peace and harmony of the drinkers at the bar. This is a sign of promise,—let us be duly thankful.

We must not omit here to commend that delicate sense of propriety which leads the Captains of Police to refrain from any reference to many very disreputable affairs that occur in their beats. Thus the Chief's Book—but of which our future history is to be made—is kept clean, and posterity is not scandalized by the record of our metropolitan misrule.

An Alderman in a Pucker.

The Aldermen of the Ninth was badly bored in the Board last night. He stopped short in a speech on the Columbia College Fair, to request members of the Board to keep silence while he was speaking. There were Mr. Councilman McCANN, and Alderman LOW, FOX, and somebody else, all talking "in a heap" right under the Alderman's nose, and his speech made them talk the faster. Somebody's action has been neglected. Keep quiet, gentlemen, when a member is on his legs. It's parliamentary.

The Sheriff's Jury on Their Annual Jollification.

Last evening the two panels of the Sheriff's Jury sat down to their annual festivals—the first at the St. Nicholas Hotel, and the other at the Astor. Each Jury was represented by its full complement of members, and speeches, and song, and merriment was the order of the evening. Over the feast at the St. Nicholas, Mr. GERARD STUYVESANT presided. Toasts were duly read and responses followed from Ex-Recorder TALLMADGE, A. CARNEY HALL, Esq., Alderman ELY, HARVEY HARD, Esq., and a song or two by Mr. W. SLIGHTER. At the Astor House they had a grand supper, P. H. COZZ, Esq., presided. The speeches were from CARNEY HALL, Mr. HOMERSAY, &c. Comic VALENTINE told some stories.

American Institute Premiums.

The American Institute has corrected its list of premiums, by awarding to ROOT a gold medal for Photographic in water-colors. This was one of the class of cases to which we referred as occasioning dissatisfaction among exhibitors; several classes of articles having been omitted in making up the list.

Collision of Vessels and Loss of Life.

At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the steam-tug Achilles, while opposite Robin's Reef, ran into the sloop Herald, Capt. PETERSON, loaded with fire-clay, and sunk her instantly. Captain PETERSON was drowned, but his deck hands, CHRISTIAN PHILIPS and JACOB SWARTS, were rescued by the crew of the steam-tug. The cause of the collision was not ascertained.

The Amoskeag Veterans.

This splendid battalion will arrive here this afternoon, from Washington, en route for their homes in New-Hampshire. They will be received at 3 o'clock P. M., at the foot of Cortlandt-street, by the "Light Guard," Capt. VESCHEN, and after parade through Cortlandt-street, Broadway, Wall and Pearl streets, will be reviewed by the District-Attorney's "Excellency" in the Park. The Guard "welcomes" its guests at the Armory after the parade.

☞ We notice in SCHAUS' window, just below the Hospital in Broadway, a new picture by Mrs. LILLIE M. SPRAGUE, a noble, gentlemanly dog, somewhat fettered by a long chain that is fastened to a basket of market stuff, is regarding with dutiful patience and great disgust, an impudent terrier who makes the canvass ring with his noisy barking, and is evidently disposed to pitch into him. A roasting piece of beef lies in the basket, and a turkey so young and tender, that we know the skin under the wing would break by the pressure of the thumb, and a bunch of celery, a good deal whiter and crisper than any the market has afforded this wet season. In the back-ground an old rag-picker is tearing the bills off a pile of bricks and thrusting them into her bag. The whole attitude of the gentlemanly and useful dog says, as plainly as the card below the painting, "Bark if you wish, but bite if you dare."

Closing of the Evening Schools.

The various Evening Schools will close their first term this evening throughout the City.

The Sixteenth Ward Girls' School held its closing reception last evening, on which occasion a very large turn-out of visitors was present. The exercises were good enough to excite general astonishment on all hands. Remarks were made by Alderman CHEESEMAN, Messrs. and Drs. GRAHAM, and Mr. JEREMIAH GARDY of the local Board. Five beautiful books were presented by a gentleman, one in each of the five classes, to the following female young ladies, for highest merit: 1st class, SUSAN E. DOUGHTY; 2d, JULIA E. DAMON; 3d, MARIANNA CLARK; 4th, [illegible]; 5th, [illegible]. The Chairman of the Evening School Committee made the presentations by request of the donor, who was present and made an address.

Mrs. SARAH STUART is Principal here, with Misses MACFARLANE, SIMES, BEALE, ARMSTRONG, and Mrs. ROSE.

The Evening Schools will reassemble for their second term on the 3d of January, 1856.

Seventy-two certificates were given out.

PETER COOPER and Mr. JOHNSON addressed the Boys and Girls of the Evening Schools, assembled in the Chapel of the Eighteenth Ward School, No. 40, and gave out 200 certificates. There were several visitors present. The singing was excellent, and the deportment and appearance of the assembled Schools were truly admirable. The teachers deserve the thanks of the public for their successful management.

☞ The Girls' Grammar School, No. 45, gave its last reception and public examination yesterday, under the auspices of Mr. DELAMATER and other school officers. The Superintendent, Hon. S. S. RANDALL, conducted the examination in person, and pronounced the advancement of the highest class in Algebra and Mathematics more satisfactory than in any other school. The exercises were listened to with attention by the hundreds of visitors present. The young ladies of the highest class have started a manuscript monthly newspaper, the first number of which was read before the audience as a part of the exercises, and gave great satisfaction. This unique affair is entitled Our Offering, and is edited each month by two young ladies, chosen by ballot from the school. Miss MARY G. THOMPSON and Miss ANNIE A. ROGERS were the editors of the first number.

Mr. DELAMATER delivered a kind address of leave taking, and the feeling manifested by the pupils must have been very grateful to him.

Aldermen CHESNUT and C. H. TUCKER were present, also Commissioners JONES and ADAMS, who all made remarks. They closed with "Old Hundred. The girls remained for an hour or two, and had a general good time, with music and dancing and innocent glee.

☞ There was an immense crowd at the Tabernacle last night, on occasion of the first concert of the New-York Saengerbund, the united German vocal Societies of this City, under the direction of CARL BERGMANN. The principal piece was a dramatic composition, by W. TSCHIRCH, entitled, and descriptive of, "A Night on the Ocean," which was exceedingly well rendered. The solo parts were sung by Messrs. QUINT and TEDDE. Various other vocal and instrumental compositions were performed to the great satisfaction of the immense audience.

☞ The complimentary ball given at the Assembly Rooms last evening, to the widow of the late Mr. JAMES SHELTON, by Mr. WILLIAM ROBERTSON, was well attended, and, at a late hour, the party were enjoying themselves immensely.

☞ The third lecture of the German course was delivered last night by Dr. WISLICENUS, whose abominable treatment by the Prussian Government is well known. The subject was connected with Education and was concisely and ably treated.

☞ A Fair for the benefit of the Colored Orphan Asylum is under way at No. 512 Broadway. Give them a lift. Another for the benefit of the Free Church of the Epiphany is proceeding at No. 120 Stanton-street.

☞ Carts backed up to the side-walk, and skids from the cart-tail to the door-sills—these are the special delight of some merchants in the lower streets. Most of them are rich and influential—so, great as the nuisance is, it cannot be abated.

☞ The Twentieth Anniversary of the Protestant Half-Orphan Asylum was held at the Asylum last evening. Interesting exercises of the children, and addresses from clergymen and others, made up the programme.

☞ Rev. J. P. THOMPSON lectured on Mazzini last night before the Young Man's Association of the Twenty-third-street Congregational Church.

☞ Professor J. B. BROWN delivered a lecture on Elocution, and gave some capital readings at Clinton Hall last evening.

☞ It will cost one dollar a yard to groove the Rose pavement as proposed by the Aldermanic Committee.

☞ The newsboys and the Five Points' Minkin children unite in a Concert to-night at the Tabernacle. A good time they'll have, or we're mistaken.

Coroner's Inquests.

FATAL ACCIDENT—SUDDEN DEATH.

Coroner O'DONNELL held an inquest yesterday at the City Hospital, on the body of Mrs. MARY FRANKLIN, whose death we announced on Wednesday. The jury after hearing the evidence in the case, returned the following verdict: "That deceased died from a fracture of the leg caused by a bale of cotton falling upon her at No. 20 Rivington-st. We hold the proprietors of said store guilty of culpable negligence in allowing cotton to be piled on the sidewalk in a dangerous manner."

FROM KANSAS.

Condition of Affairs at Lawrence.

The St. Louis Democrat has received, through a private source, intelligence from Lawrence, K. T., to December 5, from which we make the following extracts. The writer says:

It is perfectly understood here that Governor SHANNON's proclamation and blunder were intended to play into the hands of ATCHISON, STRINGFELLOW and gang. Volunteer companies were raised in the border counties of Missouri with wonderful alacrity immediately upon its promulgation. It is said that they are now encamped near Lawrence from one to two thousand armed men, and other companies are hurrying on to join them. Most of them are resident Missourians, and ATCHISON and STRINGFELLOW are out urging an attack.

The Lawrence men stand firm, and will not yield till they are forced. They have nicely calculated their strength, and their hold is the belief that it will take 1,000 men to take Lawrence; and even then with the loss of much blood. The Lawrence men are united, have experienced commanders and are well armed to a man. They are calmly and resolutely awaiting the attack. Col. LANE, of Lawrence, has sent a dispatch requesting aid from this city—he says fight is inevitable. Col. SUMNER commandant at the fort, is awaiting orders from Washington. RICHARDSON, commander of the militia, has been striving to bring about an amicable settlement, but STRINGFELLOW, BARBER and gang say no. Although the Lawrence men have shown a disposition to do right, it seems that they must fight or take the alternative of being massacred. Lawrence has at this time eight hundred men under arms; their weapons of defence are Sharpe's rifles and revolvers. It is said that the Missourians have five pieces of cannon in addition to their small arms.

These cannon were got by them in the following manner: About 100 of them broke into the arsenal at Liberty, Clay County, Missouri, secured the man in charge by tying him, took the cannon, shells, &c., on hand, and marched off to Lawrence. Col. SUMNER has sent a force to recover the arms stolen, and to protect the arsenal from further plunder. Atchison, it is said, is encamped with some twenty-five men, about fifteen miles from Lawrence, waiting for reinforcements. There is a report also, that SHANNON is much agitated, and is trying to advise the Missourians to go home, having at last convinced himself that this is the only way to avoid a collision. He is obliged, however, to advise with ATCHISON and STRINGFELLOW, and they, I believe, require the Lawrence men to surrender their arms. This they consider as equivocal to laying down their lives, and of course they will not consent. Negotiation and compromise thus far have been fruitless. It is thought that the crisis in Kansas affairs has come at last; the fight is expected to-day or to-morrow, and if so it must be a bloody one, for the Lawrence men will fight with no expectation of quarter. It is thought by the Free-State men here that the Missourians will attack this city, whether successful or not at Lawrence; they have vowed the destruction of the Herald of Freedom, and may throw it into the river, as they did the Parkville Luminary.

The Parkville Courier of Saturday, in undertaking to justify the outrages from the journal, says: "Let there be a collision between the United States troops and the border ruffians."

In the present condition of the public mind, a crisis may turn the tide into quite a different channel from that anticipated by those who originated it. We give you an idea of the excitement in this place, and only state that business is entirely suspended, and groups of men are on the streets talking of the war, as if a terrible calamity was in Judge Steuart's Letter of Resignation.

OFFICE OF THE CITY JUDGE,
NEW-YORK, Dec. 20, 1855.

To His Excellency, Byron P. Clark, Governor, &c.:

SIR: It is known to yourself and the public that I was lately charged with an offence in my official character of City Judge, and that I have since been tried and acquitted by a jury of my fellow-citizens. Of that trial, with the circumstances and matters that led to it, I will not speak in this communication, except to say, indeed, as is necessary in respect to the course I feel it my duty to pursue; for, however, without doubt the late calamity under which I have suffered, it is my purpose, for the reasons following, to withdraw from the Bench—my resignation, herein tendered, to take effect at the end of the present month. The cause that has led me to the course adopted is, that there are those among my fellow-citizens who are of the opinion that although acquitted in fact of the charge preferred against me, and innocent in truth of all criminal conduct in the matter complained of, the late terrible ordeal through which I have passed has, in a greater or less degree, impaired my present usefulness as a judge, and will, if I remain upon the bench, to some extent injure the administration of public justice at my hands. It is believed by many that the late melancholy events by which I was surrounded would, for a time at least, in a measure, deprive me of that confidence on the part of some which is an essential from all to give a judge for a valuable discharge of official duty. Besides the personal relations between the District-Attorney, Recorder and myself, are not such as would conduce to harmony in the Court of which we are members. Under these circumstances, and in view of the delicacy and importance of a judicial office, with no wish that misfortune to me—although without crime, and by whom or however brought—shall in any manner affect the interest of public justice, or be made to reflect upon those to whom I am indebted for the place I occupy, I feel it to be a duty of honor and principle to resign. In the consideration of this matter, I have been apprehensive that a surrender of the place might, upon first thought, with some, be construed to the prejudice of my innocence, but those with whom I have advised assure me that no such inference will or can be drawn by even the most uncharitable or least friendly; but that every fair and just citizen will ascribe my resignation to the cause assigned. In the presence of my God, to you, Sir, the first officer of the State, and to the public at large, I declare my entire innocence of all criminal conduct or intentional wrong in the matter from which I have been made so seriously to suffer. Influenced under feelings of deepest pain and sorrow, alone by the reasons and motives stated, I have, after many years of devoted duty and earnest industry in the criminal departments of this City, without reproach or censure from any; but in the confidence and praise of all, in poverty with wounded hopes and broken health, but a conscience free from guilt, voluntarily surrendered an office of honor and emolument for private life, trusting to Providence and my best exertions for what may come to me in the future. Believing, Sir, that the confidence of the great body of the people in my integrity is still unshaken, and that the course my convictions of propriety has led me to adopt will be approved of by my friends and the community in which I live.

I have the honor to be
Your Excellency's most obedt. humble serv't,
S. H. STUART.

Rev. James King's Claim Affirmed.

We find the following in the Observer:

It gave us great satisfaction to be able to say last week, that after so many years of delay, vexation and loss, the claim of Rev. JONAS KING, D. D., upon the kingdom of Greece, for pecuniary damages sustained by him, has at last, through the interposition of our Government, been allowed. Although Dr. KING has been paid for less than he was in equity entitled to, it is a source of gratification to him and his friends, that the difficulty is at length adjusted amicably by the payment to Dr. KING by the Greek Government, of $25,000 in full of all demands.

LARD AS ANTIDOTE FOR STRYCHNIA.—The American Journal of Medical Science says that lard is an antidote to Strychnia. It was discovered in an attempt to poison a dog, by placing the Strychnia upon meat. The meat was near a jar of refined Lard, and after the meat had been eaten the dog devoured the lard, and to the surprise of the person watching the effect of the poison, it failed of producing any effect, although one grain had been swallowed. The experiment was repeated nine different times with like results, and eleven times without the lard, in every instance proving fatal.

POSTAGE STAMPS.—We have been requested to state, in answer to interrogatories, that the law makes no compensation to postmasters for the sale of postage stamps or stamped envelopes, except by the allowance of commission on such as are used in prepayment of postage on letters and packages sent from their offices. The commission allowed on such stamps prepaid by stamps or stamped envelopes sent from other offices is the same as if the prepayment had been effected in money.—Union.

NEWS FROM INDIA AND CHINA.

Burning of the American Ship Constitution.

The Asia's mails reached this city yesterday afternoon. We publish below extracts from the war foreign news. A dispatch from Marseilles, dated Nov. 24, says:

"Admiral Lyons continues to receive reinforcements of the Crimea, to survey the point of Kertch, against which the Russians seem to be turning their attention during the winter. There are no fresh troops arriving in the Crimea. The Russians are concentrating in its environs. It is said that 15,000 men are sent towards Sebastopol, and 10,000 towards Kertch. Commodore Lyons has taken possession of the city of Prince Gortschakoff, and hoisted the flag of Russia, by the side of the Cross of Constantine.

"There is no news whatever from the Crimea."

The Vienna Correspondence of the Times says the following:

"The Ottoman Imperial Commercial Bank has suspended its hard cash payments. Government papers have continued in circulation. The Turkish Government is using every means to induce people to take it by forcing it into their hands in payment, however, for the Government. The Russians are about to a vacancy of a month, and they have actually commenced their retreat from Eupatoria [illegible] remain without material change in Washington; the explanations of Mr. FULTON, which a typographical error in our notice yesterday morning reversed the character of, do not appear to have shut him so many votes as we anticipated. Our special telegraphic dispatch also intimates of a stampede of BANKS' supporters to-day. Mr. McMULLEN endeavored yesterday to relieve the dullness of the proceedings by informing the Republicans that if the Government should fall into their hands, and they should decide to carry out their favorite measures, the Union would be dissolved at once.

The European News.

The steamer, made reached this City in the morning of yesterday evening. Among our extracts will be found sundry articles from leading journals on the main feature of the news—the prospect of peace. These are, at best, vague and unsatisfactory. It is stated on the authority of a telegraphic dispatch that Russia is willing to concede [illegible] on the river points, but this rumor is [illegible] with the tone of the article in the Russian Journal, an official Russian paper, which we have also transferred to our columns. According to all accounts it seems probable that proposals for peace have been offered by Austria to Russia, and that the result depends entirely on the temper with which they are received by the latter power.

There is little in the news beyond the lengthy [illegible] telegraphed from Halifax. A description of the burning of the American ship Constitution in the river Mersey, and two articles—one on the United States and Austria, and the other on the United States and England—will attract attention.

The Minister from Nicaragua.

Impelled by the fate of Colonel PARKER H. FRENCH, lest the young man enter rashly the labyrinthine walks of diplomacy. That gentleman went to Washington duly accredited as Minister and Envoy from the Government of Nicaragua. His credentials, it is to be presumed, were all straight; the home government, definitely established upon the modern and only durable basis of a coup d'état, besprinkled with sacrificial blood of Presidents and privates, had been acknowledged by WHEELER at Managua, and if ever a voyager were promised a Summer sea and safe anchorage, it was that voyager of political repute, Colonel FRENCH. The channel through the State Department to the President's House seemed unobstructed before him. His Excellency, the Ambassador from Nicaragua, was already practiced in the formulas of a reception; already prepared with greetings of cordial equality with their other excellencies, big and little, of the Republican Court. But strange rumors of an uncomplimentary nature have reached the ambassadorial ears. And lastly, it is intimated, quite broadly enough for the most inexperienced diplomatist to comprehend, that Envoy FRENCH is not to be received at all; that the Government he wishes to represent is no government; that Excellency WALKER was too fast in treating it as such, and that Captain FRENCH, stripped of heraldic honors, can go back to his senders by the earliest conveyance. President PIERCE is not prepared to accept the régime of President WALKER. The American Government does not acknowledge that, has at present, ruling in Nicaragua.

Let us confess our surprise, in common with the rejected diplomat, at this proceeding on the part of the Washington authorities. There is little room, possibly, to question the character of the revolution now controlling Nicaragua. The worst phases presented to us may be received as authentic. It is true that Col. WALKER, with a handful of free companions, entered his aid their services to one of two contending parties in that stormy land, and that, as a matter of course, the side upon which the Anglo-American energies were engaged triumphed. Grateful for his intervention, and, perhaps, fearful of the alternative, they raised the successful leader; as successful leaders are always raised in struggles of that sort, to the Dictatorship, which at this day WALKER holds, without disturbance, and without any credible evidence of dissatisfaction on the part of the people he governs. Upon what ground, then, can recognition of his Government be withheld? Surely, no personal reason interferes. It is not WALKER, the filibuster, who claims recognition, but the Government de facto of an allied State. It is not Capt. FRENCH, of questionable antecedents, who solicits the ear of our Government, but the agent of a sovereign Power. Precedent is in vain appealed to, as authority for a course thus capricious. If President POLK did right, in 1848, to acknowledge the French Republic, two days [illegible]

[illegible] Administration, [illegible] the Filibuster MORAZAN [illegible] in opinion to an established fact. If Mr. SEWARD did right in recognizing the Government of Don [illegible], the duty of the Administration towards that of WALKER is unmistakable. In fact, the whole practice of the State Department towards all the middle States of Southern America, and to all others, has been to treat the actual Government as valid, let it originate how and where it may; to concede the obvious impossibility of examining any other proofs of authenticity than succeess; and to admit the new Minister or Agent the moment he presents himself. If otherwise, why was Senor AZAGUERRA admitted from Distrito Kent, Ann, or why is ARMONTE's credence received without question, now? As well, indeed, might Mexico decline to recognize the Administration that shall follow that of President PIERCE, without first inspecting the minutes of the Electoral College, as for President PIERCE to demand better proofs of authenticity than those Col. WALKER offers. It should have been sufficient—such evidence has always been received as sufficient—that our Minister resident on the spot deemed the Government entitled to recognition, to have secured it that courtesy at the hands of this country.

We regard the question as of greater importance because, while it is so glaring a departure from precedent, it establishes a highly mischievous one instead. It assumes for this Government a right to pronounce upon the domestic concerns of foreign nations, and to decide what description of scrawy is best for them; and that at the very moment when the whole strength of the Administration is devoted to the doctrine of absolute popular sovereignty in our own territories. It introduces a new set of principles upon which the three million controversy with Mexico must be settled. And, if the previous history of WALKER or FRENCH have any part in the measure; if the various unsuccessful speculations of those busy gentlemen in California, Mexico, and elsewhere; or their more prosperous venture in Nicaragua, are to have place in the discussion of the subject; the new precedent becomes a source of endless difficulties, involving no less than a familiar inquiry into the private life of all the brigands, buccaneers, and cut-throats who in turn rise to the surface of Spanish American politics, before we may communicate with each ephemeral regime. There is, in fact, no graceful or safe retreat from intercourse with the Nicaraguan Government, disreputable as it is. If the Envoy is offensive, he may be declined on moral and personal grounds; but we have too much at stake, in and beyond Central America, to invite the enmity of so bold and unscrupulous a person as WALKER, by a contemptuous disregard in his favor of all ordinary rules of diplomacy.

In the meanwhile, Ambassador FRENCH, not relishing the cold shoulder of our Government, has left Washington and returned to New-York, to meditate on the inconsistencies of statesmen and the mutabilities of filibustering adventurers.

Delinquent Tax-Payers.

The lists of unpaid Personal Taxes have been published, at last, by order of the Board of Supervisors. The Recorder's protest availed anything. It is a formidable document that the Corporation printers have furnished—427 pages filled with names and figures. The record is instructive, as an exhibition of the loose way in which the public business of this City is carried on. From the commencement of the year 1844 to the close of 1854, the personal taxation of our citizens was a matter of which nobody knew nothing, not even the Comptroller, who is generally supposed to be the financial authority of the City Government. This fact is acknowledged in a late communication from the head of the Tax Department. The Mayor has done his best to call attention to the deficiency, and by dint of perseverance this important document is at last open to public inspection. An examination of its contents, while it establishes the truth of the statement that the deficit in the Personal tax for the last ten years is something more than six hundred thousand dollars, also suggests the necessity of a more rigorous application of office rules in the preparation of the estimates for each fiscal year. The taxes are sufficiently heavy at best, and a loss of $60,000 per annum counts up on the wrong side of the books.

It has been a debated point whether the Supervisors have the right to make publication of such a record of delinquents. The matter was under debate for a considerable period at the meetings of the Board; the Recorder and others placing the fact of publication on the same ground in regard to libel upon character, as the ruling of the Courts in the case of the publication of judgments. The authority of the Board, however, prevailed, and one thousand copies of the document have been printed, and a precedent established. Great anxiety has existed among tax-payers, as a matter of course, to ascertain the nature of the list. In the catalogue we find the names of many prominent citizens, lawyers, Judges, merchants, and sundry City officials; all appearing, in black and white, with the amount in the payment of which they are deficient affixed to their address. It is an interesting development. The collection of the unpaid taxes which are summed up in this document will serve to clear the way for a new system. The Supervisors will do the tax-paying public an excellent service, by agreeing upon some method to make the next levy regular and equal.

Judge Stuart's Resignation.

We publish, in another column, the letter of Judge STUART to Gov. CLARK, tendering the resignation of his office as City Judge. This course was expected of him, and, perhaps, it might have been better if the resignation had followed more promptly the decision of the Jury by whom he was tried. The Judge announces, with great earnestness and solemnity, his innocence of the criminal charges which were preferred against him, and of which he was acquitted; but he yields to the recommendation of his friends, and to the [illegible] that the publication of his opinion against him will have the effect to embarrass the proper discharge of the duties of his office. There will be conflicting opinions on the subject of Judge STUART's conduct, but his resignation of office places him once more in the ranks of private life, and those who have sympathized with him in his troubles and who have believed in his innocence should be prompt to assist him in whatever business he may now turn his attention to. His example will, probably, have a wholesome influence on other officials who have had the good fortune to escape an indictment, but who labor under the suspicion of being well entitled to it.

Fetch a Bullagh! Clear the Way!

It has always been acknowledged, most of all by us, that the American people are the most ingenious that ever existed or that ever will exist. Witness their many inventions in steam, lightning, gunpowder, and other light matters of like nature, not to mention the sewing machines, and instruments into one end of which some letters are emptied to come out at the other and a printed book. Not only is this ingenuity individual, but you find it also in collective bodies—corpus in the Latin, from which comes corporation—and in no body is it more brilliantly evident than in the corporation of this City.

There is Broadway, for instance, which we never walk without lifting up our hands and crying, "Praised be the Corporation!" That landlord used to be considered clever who put ten guests into nine beds, and yet gave each a bed to himself; but that landlord, classically speaking, could not hold a candle to our rulers. It was a recognised axiom that a full grown human being could not stand on less than four and a half square feet of surface; but our Corporation put seven hundred and twenty-six men, women and children upon half a square foot of Broadway, where they walk, run about, nay, appear to be comfortable, and how they do it is beyond our powers of divination. But we have a model Mayor and a disinterested assemblage of Aldermen and Councilmen, and real pretty Policemen, which probably accounts for the mystery.

Walk down multitudinous Broadway, and watch the amazed provincials as they stand helpless upon the curb-stone, and gaze in hopeless dismay at the vehicles, as they pass in ceaseless and solid phalanges up and down. How to get over is a problem that they do not expect to solve; they stand there, awaiting some Interposition of Providence. There, a horse falls down, and there another; the up tide is stopped for a moment; Provincial darts over, and trims his or her fluttered plumes with palpitating heart on the other side. A recent French writer on America does not fear to state that the New-Yorker is easily distinguishable from any other American, by the fact that he, and he only, can cross Broadway.

This street is the great central artery of the mighty metropolis of the United States; it is called the thoroughfare, is supposed indeed to be the chief thoroughfare for seventy-five thousand people. It is true that you can get from one end of the City to the other by following its course, but how, and in how much time? Get into an omnibus and try. Hudson-street, on the west, after dwindling into College-place, empties its carts through Fulton-street into Broadway. Short, wide-shouldered, plethoric Bowery, swallows the cars and omnibuses of Third and Fourth avenues, and disgorges them into that Gargantua of a Broadway at the Park, as if that street were not already bursting. Grand-street and Canal-street are only tributaries to that central, narrow Mississippi, and when Walker-street is widened, what will be the result? An accession of fresh vehicles to Broadway.

Now it is evident to the reflective mind that this state of affairs won't do. Paris has her noble Boulevard, Berlin her Unter den Linden, huge London its Strand, Vienna its Graben, New-York has a narrow street indeed that leads from Harlem River to the Bay, but for proper practical purposes, for the needs of its numerous and daily increasing citizens, New-York has no thoroughfare. Delay renders the difficulties in the way of having one more arduous. Already it is too late to make Broadway one. The magnificent buildings, of fabulous costliness, that line both sides of the street, place it out of the purchasing reach of the wealthiest corporation, and a new rein must be opened somewhere else.

From Harlem to Fourteenth-street we have the magnificent avenues. Where the population is sparse the roads are broad enough, but so soon as you get among the densely packed masses, the huge crowds struggling for passage, you see the alleys narrowing in proportion to the increase of matter that must pass through them.

According to our notion of things, there must be a straight, wide road, sooner or later, from Harlem to the East River. Why not take that magnificent Second-avenue, and open it at Houston-street, through Chrystie-street, where property is yet of comparatively small value? It would then run in a direct line, crossing East Broadway into Catharine-street, which may easily, and without great expense, be widened—thus making a fine thoroughfare from the upper and large ruined part of the City to the docks upon the East River.

It is not necessary to destroy a good and valuable house in order that a street may be cut through; it may be tunneled, as has been already done in Fulton-street, in order to prolong College-Place, and which is a very common process in Europe. Besides which, every year increases the expense, while it renders relief for Broadway more imperatively pressing. For the time must come in this great metropolis when Broadway, the street of promenaders and shoppers, of hotels and shops, must, like each streets elsewhere, be given up to carriages and pedestrians, while the lumbering market wagon and heavy business cart must take another way down and up town. It is the experience of Paris and Vienna and Berlin; let the way be moderate there before it shall require the creation of a huge city fete in Hades to [illegible] a way to travel.

Death of Robert Montgomery.

In the London papers brought by the Arabia we find a brief announcement of the death of Rev. ROBERT MONTGOMERY, the poet, commonly called "Satan Montgomery." He was the author of several long religious poems, of two of which "Satan," and the "Omnipresence of the Deity," have been reprinted in this country. Among his other works were "Woman," "Angel of Life," "Luther," and "The Universal Prayer." His poems were very inferior in literary merit, but they hit the taste of an unsystemized class of readers, and some of them reached as many as sixteen or eighteen editions. A complete collection of them was lately published in London, in one large volume, by Messrs. CHAPMAN & HALL. Mr. MONTGOMERY was the Minister of Percy Chapel, London, and was very popular as a preacher among a large unreflecting class of churchgoers. His style may be illustrated by one sentence quoted by R. H. HORNE, in his "New Spirit of the Age." Speaking of the desecration of the Sabbath, Mr. MONTGOMERY said, "What is Sunday railway traveling but atmospherical blasphemy!" He died, after a few days illness, at Brighton, aged 48 years. He was the illegitimate son of a minor actor at the Surrey Theatre, London, named GOMERY. The name Montgomery was assumed, and its adoption by the young ROBERT GOMERY is said to have given great offence to the real Simon Pure, JAMES MONTGOMERY, the Sheffield poet. ROBERT, who really possessed some talents, was patronized by a London merchant and sent to the University of Oxford, where he graduated and entered the English Church.

The Powers of the Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors, in the absence of the Mayor and Recorder, is, or is not, a legally constituted body. Which is it? The question becomes interesting, involving the legality of acts that are termed official, and affecting the rights of individuals who have business with that important body.

Yesterday the Mayor and Recorder were both absent from the meeting of the Board, and one of the Supervisors was put into the Chair. Was the action of the Board legal in any sense? We think not. The State law, which governs the action of this Board, provides that all meetings of the body must be attended by the Mayor or the Recorder of the City, in order to render its action legal. In case neither of these officers is in attendance, has the Board a right to organize at all, or have the Supervisors any title to receive their per diem allowance? The law is imperative, which makes the Mayor and Recorder integral parts of the Board.

True, the Supervisors yesterday declined to act upon matters requiring expenditure of money, owing to the constitutional difficulties of the case; but the ordinary business proceeded very much as usual. The Mayor and Recorder were missing during the entire session. As there is no other meeting of the Board for some days, the interests which require attention must needs put up with postponement; and should the Mayor decline to be present next week, and the Recorder be detained, the meeting of the Board will be as much of a farce as it was yesterday.

Gottschalk's Piano-Forte Soirees.

New-York did itself justice last evening, and Mr. GOTTSCHALK received a portion of that homage to which he is entitled, but which, for some inexplicable reason has been withheld too long. We have never seen a more dense crowd than that assembled in Dodworths' room, or an audience more attentive and appreciative.

Beyond recording the unequivocal triumph of Mr. GOTTSCHALK and his assistants, we can at present say nothing. The pressure on our columns this morning deprives us of adequate space for dwelling, as we intend to dwell, on the peculiarities and admirable qualities of this great artist. To-morrow we shall endeavor to do full justice to an entertainment that has given us more unalloyed satisfaction than we have enjoyed for a long time.

Concerts.

Mrs. EMMA GILLINGHAM BOSTWICK, an admirable lady, and highly appreciated artiste, gives a grand concert to-night. Mrs. BOSTWICK will be assisted by several well-known musicians, and has provided a programme which promises abundant satisfaction to the musically disposed.

The Concert of the Brothers MOLLENHAUER which was announced for Saturday evening, has been postponed until Thursday next, the 3d of January. It will come off at Dodworth's Academy.

Last evening Miss BEATRICE gave a very satisfactory concert to a large and delighted audience, at Niblo's Saloon. Considering the unusual attractions elsewhere, the attendance was in the highest degree flattering. Miss BEATRICE is a very delicious vocalist, with good natural capacity and much cultivation. She sang excellently, and was warmly applauded.

The concert for the benefit of the children of the Five Points Mission comes off to-night in the Tabernacle. Go if you possibly can. It will be a charity and a pleasure.

Law vs. Fillmore.

FILLMORE lags. The K. N.'s in Washington and Saratoga Counties have elected WILLIAM A. RUSSELL Delegate to the Philadelphia Convention. He is claimed for LAW.

The seceding Delegates from the Williamsburg and Seventh and Thirteenth Wards of New-York have selected G. C. DRAW as Delegate; both factions have thus agreed on the same man. JAMES W. BARKER was chosen alternate.

Dismissed from the Service.

Brevet Lieut. Col. WILLIAM R. MONTGOMERY, Major of the 2d Infantry, has been dismissed from the service by sentence of a Court-martial, for "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," in appropriating a portion of the military reserve at Fort Riley to the uses of the Pawnee Association for a town site—he being interested in that Association to a considerable extent.

Junior Appointments at Williams College.

The appointments for Junior Exhibition at Williams were recently given as follows: Greek Oration, Alex. Hutchins; Latin Oration, George D. Goodrich; English Orations, Messrs. Parsons, W. Tatlock, Samuel Wood, W. G. Harding, Apthorp, Pierce, Stevens, G. H. De Bevoise, Cole, McGee, Moffath, Murray.

NEW-YORK CITY.

A New Almshouse Assess for Next Year.

The Board of Finance Commissioners makes application to the Board of Supervisors for the appropriation of $317,800 for the expenses of the Almshouse Department for the coming year.

We have taken some pains to sift out from among the bills of items a few memoranda that will be instructive.

For coal and carriage for the out-door poor, $35,000 are asked; this amount having been incurred over the estimate for 1855 in consequence of the extreme severity of the past Winter, by which a large number of mechanics were thrown out of employment and necessarily compelling the Superintendent of Out-door Poor to continue the donations of coal and wood until the 1st of May—one month later than usual.

Eighteen thousand dollars are asked under the head of "Dry Goods" intended to be expended for Winter clothing.

Towards the completion of the new Workhouse, [illegible]

Not Get Excited.

Capt. McKEE, of the Sixteenth Ward, assures us that our correspondent, who gives his name as [illegible] has drawn a long bow in setting up the charge that exists in the Police Department in his Ward. He says that the charge of obtaining prizes for the largest excursion by threats is all gammon, and offers 500 witnesses, well-known and true men, to prove it so. That excursion was the first ever made by the Police of that Ward—the first day of duty they had ever had. Being policemen are human, that certainly is not the greatest of sins. The charge referred to is a very old one, and the number of relations it has had is Legion.

The ball at Knickerbocker Hall enjoyed the presence of such guests as Councilmen RAMBY, HOWES and MERRITT, Aldermen FULMER, Capts. WALKING and STRAUSS, and as fine a lot of ladies as ever was found together on such an occasion. The drinking was all in our correspondent's eye—at least no intoxication was discoverable on the part of any guest there. There was no fighting, the Captain says, excepting that after the company had dispersed two young fellows—not policemen—had a slunch at the hat-room window. They were promptly ejected of course by the policemen remaining about the premises.

The beats in the Ward were entirely covered, says the Captain—a reserve from the Ninth, Eighteenth and Twentieth, as well as Squad No. 2 being on hand. The proceeds of the ball have served to carpet and oil-cloth the men's sleeping rooms of the Station-house, and everybody, the Police Committee included, is invited to call up and see how things look there. The Captain is of opinion that our correspondent had better purge his pen and try it again. He doubts if he could get further from the truth without a desperate and very dangerous effort.

The Common Council and the Reporters.

For the third or fourth time, a movement is on foot in the Common Council to compensate the reporters of the City newspapers for their attendance upon the meetings of the two Boards. The amount involved is very near one thousand dollars—which sum it is proposed to divide among eight persons, all of whom hold a regular commission with the daily papers, and receive salaries for their services. It is the duty of each of these gentlemen to attend the Boards on each day of meeting. For this service they are remunerated by their employers. The Common Council has nothing to do with them, either in the way of employment, of compensation, of censure, or of praise. The daily press of this City is independent of the Common Council, in every respect. Its members derive no charity from that body; nor do we consider the Corporation in any case competent to pay for reports which are never published in its official records. The name of the DAILY TIMES having been used in connection with this affair, we respectfully decline being considered a party to the performance; and if this paper has been brought into the question, the act has been wholly without authority.

Columbia College—A New Park.

There is great agitation in the Common Council upon the question whether permission shall be granted to Columbia College to close a portion of Forty-ninth-street. The Trustees claim the privilege on the ground that their new Institution cannot be suitably located upon the property in the upper part of the City, if this street is allowed to cut the square into halves. Vehement opposition is manifested. A very earnest remonstrance from property-owners and residents in the vicinity of the street came into the Board of Aldermen last night. It talked of "defacing" the Map of the City by attempts to lay out the new Park, and prayed that the petition be denied. But there is another side. The new Central Park will not "deface" the City. St. John's Park closes Hubert-street—does it deface the Map? The City Hall Park shuts up Murray, Warren, Park-place, Frankfort, Spruce, Beekman,—it does not hurt travel. Is there anything very dreadful in the waste (if you will so call it, O remonstrant!) of a few inches' room, when we may have a new breathing-place so easily among the brick and mortar.

If Columbia College,—really proposing to give us a new Park,—will guarantee to throw it open to the public, let us have it by all means. The Aldermen say Nay, but they may yet be persuaded.

The New Ferry—Light—Light!

Can anybody tell us whether or not the gentlemen engaged in pushing the application for a new ferry from Twenty-third-street to Greenpoint are the owners of the ferry privilege from Fourteenth-street to Greenpoint, and the assignees of the Corporation (Ferry) Grant to the Trustees of Calvary Cemetery (from Twenty-third-street to the Cemetery on Long-Island) which is now restricted to the conveyance of funeral parties? And whether or not their object is to convert the latter lease (which bears only a nominal rent) into a full ferry privilege? Can any one tell us how the great body of tax-payers are to be affected by the success of the application?

The Astor House Ball.

One of the most interesting balls of the season took place on Wednesday night, at Niblo's large room, Broadway. It was the second annual ball of the Astor House Club, and was given by the officers and assistants employed in COLEMAN & STEWART's noble establishment. All the employes of the Astor House were present, together with their friends and numerous invited guests. From 600 to 700 persons were there at one period of the evening, and nearly that number sat down to a splendid supper, which, of course, comprised all the liquors and condiments usual on such occasions. The band engaged was DODWORTH's. A noticeable addition to the decorations of the ball-room, was found in the many handsome bird-cages suspended from the floor of the music-gallery, in each of which a lively Canary, kept awake by the music and the bustle of the dancers' feet, trilled a continual song. This feature was the happy thought of Mr. GEORGE F. ALEXANDER, the accomplished and indefatigable floor-manager, to whose attention the guests were indebted for numerous courtesies throughout the evening. The dancing was kept up till nearly four hours after midnight. It was altogether a very pleasant and merry time.

Breaking into a Policy Shop.

An "exchange office," said to be a policy shop, located in Jersey-street, was broken into and robbed last evening of some fixtures of no great value. It seems that the keeper of the place refused to give up a prize won by certain of his customers, who were so exasperated thereat, that they broke into his establishment. The proprietor of the place dared not institute a complaint against the burglars, for fear that the investigation might result in his own conviction for a violation of the lottery law.

The late H. H. Barclay, Esq.—Coroner's Inquest.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner O'DONNELL on the body of HENRY H. BARCLAY, a nephew of the British Consul, who died suddenly on Wednesday evening at the Star Hotel, No. 24 Leonard-street. A post mortem examination by Drs. WHITE and O'HANLON showed that deceased died of congestion of the brain, and a verdict to that effect was rendered by the Jury. The deceased was twenty-six years of age, and a native of this City.

Robbed Northerly.

Mrs. ISAAC LEWIS, while passing through Canal-street, yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, had a purse containing twenty-five shillings from her hand, by a person, who escaped with his booty by running up Sullivan-street.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

[illegible]

TWO BOOKS OF THE GREATEST VALUE TO MEN OF EVERY BUSINESS AND PROFESSION.

THE AMERICAN ALMANAC, AND REPOSITORY OF USEFUL KNOWLEDGE, FOR 1856.

One vol. 12mo.; 300 to 400 pp.

Price $1 paper, $1 50 bound. To be ready in a few days.

The "American Almanac" is filled with matter of the greatest importance to every American. It contains the fullest information respecting the general Government of the United States and of each particular State; also, such facts relating to the States of Europe as are useful to our people.

The Monthly Magazine says: "Thousands of literary men, and literary productions of large fame and showy pretensions, will stand indebted to this modest, thin, paper-covered volume; to its rich and orderly mass of statistics, its tables of dry figures, and condensed chapters of all matter of information! Every professional man, to say nothing of the masses of business men who come in will be saved a good deal of running and worrying, and guessing, and blundering, in the course of the year. 'Blessings on the man that not 'invented' but 'arranged facts!'"

TREATISE ON ENGLISH PUNCTUATION. Designed for Letter-writers, Authors, Printers, and Correctors of the Press; and for the use of Schools and Academies. With an Appendix, containing rules on the use of Capitals, a List of abbreviations, Hints on preparing Copy and on Proof-reading, Specimens of Proof-sheets, etc. Fifth Edition. By JOHN WILSON. 12mo; Price $1.

"It is an exceedingly valuable book; and a copy of it should be at the service of every one who is directly or indirectly interested in the large subject of which it treats—all who have to write important letters, records, and documents, as well as those who write for the press.

Its title is a very full exposition of its contents; and a reader of it will be equally surprised and instructed by the amount of knowledge which its perusal will impart."—Christian Examiner. CROSBY, NICHOLS & CO. No. 111 Washington-st., Boston.

From Prentice's Louisville Journal.

It rivals the sermons of the Potiphar Papers as well as the drollery and humor of Orpheus C. Kerr.

EIGHTY THOUSAND SOLD AND TENTH THOUSAND PRINTING OF

THE WIDOW BEDOTT PAPERS.

1 12mo vol. Illustrated. $1 25.

From the Hoosiers (Mass.) Journal.

This is really an amusing affair, treating upon a variety of subjects connected with the life, character, history and experiences of Widow Bedott, and what many others experience in consequence of having her for a neighbor while she was Mrs. Deacon Bedott, Widow Bedott and Mrs. Sniffles. It is just the book for cold weather; it will save fuel, as it will arouse the risibles, shake the sides, and keep the reader warm from exercise. The Widow Bedott's character is portrayed in characteristic style. Her poetry is of that peculiar class that will be remembered on once reading, and according to her own statements Rev. Mr. Sniffles, though a widower when she became acquainted with him, never actually took up his cross until after she became Mrs. Sniffles.

NEW BEAUTY,

A WELCOME NEW BOOK,

BY ANNA CORA RITCHIE,

(Formerly MRS. MOWATT,)

Author of "Armand," "Fairhaven," &c., &c., "Armand,"

MIRIAM LEIGH;

OR, BEFORE AND BEHIND THE CURTAIN.

A SERIES OF NARRATIVES.

In one volume, 12mo, with a stylish Illustration. Price $1 25.

To relate the singular incidents that occurred, around and among the striking characters which a woman of many talents, was a favorite employment during a professional career of nine years. Out of the many-colored webs of life thus collected, the narratives that compose this volume are woven. Striking as is the last but few embellishing touches. Truth is left to produce her own strongest effects. Should this work achieve the object contemplated, its readers will receive a more correct impression of some unknowed laborers for the public amusement than is generally entertained. Between them and the every-day world the curtain of responsible has fallen in inscrutable folds. From its fatal shadow those alone who climb to the highest pinnacle of fame emerge. Yet among the most lowly of the prescribed band, there are many whose lives bear witness to the unmerited fate of genius. The eastern sage speaks in unknowed tongues. Look for them, you who judge rashly, lest ye pronounce that they have no existence there.

ANNA CORA RITCHIE.

RAVENSWOOD, Oct. 17, 1855.

From the Boston Transcript.

The work is a very readable and intellectually compelling much that could not well be included in that volume, and casting a thin veil of fiction over scenes and characters, the dates and names of which could not be given without wounding the feelings of living persons. We will only remark that every narrative in this volume is not merely founded on fact, but is in composite literally true. The characters and the leading incidents are true, without an exception, and the principal characters will be recognized by many who have known the original. The work is destined to a popularity equal if not superior to that of the Autobiography; for it is not a mauvais romance spun from a morbid brain, like too many of the productions of the day, but it is the result of the life, studies and experiences of a true woman and an accomplished writer, who has here deposited some of her most sacred convictions in regard to life and its meaning.

From the Boston Atlas.

"The Frontier Daughter" is one of the three native-lives, all beautifully designed and exquisitely written. In a volume, the scene of which is laid in the region of the Thousand Isles, the author has delineated and charmed us as no person can open the volume without being grown by the faces of some in whose welfare they have had no or less interest. The volume contains three pieces of Irving, Bryant, Halleck, Longfellow, Holmes, Mitchell, Willis, Morris, Curtis, Samuel Taylor, Hawthorne, Shelton, &c.

EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

From Harper's Magazine.

The attractiveness of the work is greatly enhanced by the number and variety of portraits with which it is embellished, forming an extensive gallery of American Authors.

From the Boston Atlas.

It is unsurpassed by anything that has ever been issued from the American Press.

From the Saint Louis Republican.

The literary community are highly ensilliable to the gifted contributing; and as each article is accompanied by a steel-engraved likeness of the writer, it may be, beyond question, pronounced the best Portrait Gallery of American authors which has ever appeared.

From the New-York Daily Tribune.

A volume so unique in its conception and so expensive in its illustrations, deserves complete success.

From the Mobile Daily Tribune.

The most brilliant American book of the season.

From the New-Orleans Picayune.

The value of this book to the American reader is beyond estimate. The price demanded for it is very far below its worth.

From the New-York Cash Advertiser.

This Gallery of American Authors should find a conspicuous place in the library of every American who has enough patriotism and refinement of taste to take pride in the nation's literature.

Price $6. Elegantly bound in cloth, gilt, $6; elegantly bound in morocco, arabesque, $8; elegantly bound in morocco, extra, $7 50.

COWPER'S TASK. With more than fifty Illustrations, by BIRKET FOSTER, in the highest style of the art. Printed on fine tinted paper. Superbly bound in cloth gilt, $4 50; Turkey morocco antique, $6.

From the Art Journal.

We wonder what the bard of the Ouse would say to this exquisite edition of his favorite poem, could he see it. Such a lover of Nature as he was, how his eye would have feasted on its Art Poetry! Mr. Foster's delineations, simple, truthful, and poetical as the lines they illustrate! * * * We have often had occasion to commend Mr. Foster's landscape compositions, but we have never seen his pencil more charmingly exercised than on this beautiful volume; nor must we exclude from our praises the work of Mr. E. Evans, who has engraved the designs on wood in a first-rate style of excellence.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

[illegible]

CIRCUIT COURT.

[illegible]

which charged them with "making a riot" on board [illegible]

Held by the Court—That the mischief supposed to exist in the 2d section of the Criminal Act of 1825, lies, that the Act did not define the offence of an endeavor to excite a riot; that the Act of 1827 is generally supposed to have been passed to remove this obscurity.

That the 2d section of that act constitutes and treats the offence of mutiny; and the second section, in all but one of its provisions, treats clearly with the institution of the crime of mutiny, and the above and punishment of a crime of a similar character.

That it would be in violation of principle the usual method of legislation to pass abruptly in the same sentence out of a limited class of offences, and bring into the paragraph a distinct and additional subject.

That the "making a riot" on shipboard by seamen, implies that their disorderly assemblages is intended or conducive to have a mutinous effect and result.

That as the verdict of the jury acquits the defendants of any endeavor to make a mutiny or mutiny, there is no offence found by the verdict which is punishable under this statute.

For the United States, Mr. McKeon. For defendants, Mr. Beebe.

The United States vs. Henry K. Brown.—This was a motion to quash an indictment, on the ground that when it was found by the Grand Jury, a United States Commissioner was proceeding with an examination of the accused for the same offence, which proceeding was still pending.

Held by the Court—That the statutes of the United States provide very inadequately for conducting proceedings in criminal cases; that the 3rd section of the Judiciary act, in its language, contemplates adopting the method pursued in the State where the defendant is arrested, but it is doubtful whether that act extends to the powers or modes of action of Grand Juries.

That there is eminent propriety in rendering, as far as practicable, the administration of the criminal law in the United States and the State tribunals, alike in all essential particulars, and not leaving the citizen subject to wholly differing processes and liabilities for the same offence, when under prosecution in the two Courts. That had the accused been indicted in a State Court, pending his examination before a magistrate, the indictment would have been deemed irregular.

That it is yet, however, an unsettled point whether the U. S. Courts admit that the local law supplies the rule governing their practice in criminal cases.

That Congress has adopted no regulations respecting Grand Juries, and it is believed to be the doctrine in most of the United States Courts that proceedings before them are in conformity with the rules of common law.

That this case involves questions which ought to receive a more deliberate judgment than can be given on a motion to quash, and the motion must, therefore, be denied, and the defendant ordered to plead or demur; the District Attorney and the District-Attorney is advised to move the remitter of the cause to the Circuit Court for the judgment of both Judges.

For the United States, J. McKeon. For the defendant, W. B. Beebe.

MARKET REPORTS.

Markets—Carefully Reported for N. Y. Daily Times.

FOR SALE.

THE FLYNN FARM, NEAR KALEIGH, IN COLLEGE COUNTY, IS NOW OFFERED FOR SALE. TWO HALVES OF THIS FARM, CONTAINING ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY ACRES, ARE OFFERED SEPARATELY. The farm is well watered, and has a good house, barn, and other buildings. The soil is a dark, rich mold, from one to five feet in depth, in parts rolling, and peculiarly fitted for grazing, fruit and tobacco, and for cultivation of Wheat, Indian Corn, &c.

The farm is one of location. Goes adjoined on the newly opened Raleigh and Gulf Railroad, and is within a few miles of Wilmington, N. C. Wheat sown on new turned sod is sure to yield very large crops. One man with a slow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Ten acres can be made for breaking, ready for Corn or Wheat, at a cost of $2 per acre. The soil is so peculiarly fertile that it will produce two crops of Corn and one of Wheat in one year. The Corn is of a superior quality, and of a high state of cultivation the second year.

The large yield on the alluvial lands of Illinois, over which passed lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to all who have been sufficient to see the difference of transportation, and the difference of time, between the Prairies of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin and the Eastern States. The Raleigh and Gulf Railroad offers a growing home demand for farm produce.

Cool and wood are delivered along the road at different points, at from $2 to $4 per cord.

Further, having in view Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, or Minnesota, for the future home, should the latter be considered, note that the country east of the Mississippi is destitute of railroads; that the conveniences of transportation, quick and cheap, from farms on the line of the Illinois Central Railroad, direct to the great Eastern market, is sufficient of itself to pay the Government of Illinois 25 per cent higher than its Government lands in Iowa. In other words, that it costs so much more to get produce from the heart of the country, over the Great Lakes, to the Eastern market, that the farmer will find it much more profitable to locate on the line of this railroad.

TERMS AND PRICES ARE AS FOLLOWS.

The price will vary from $5 to $10, according to location, quality, &c. Contracts for deeds may be made during the year, at the option of the purchaser, on payment of half in five annual installments, the first to become due at two years from date of contract, the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from date of purchase.

By the laws of the Act of the Legislature, approved 16th January, 1855, these lands are free from taxation until they are sold fee, and a deed of conveyance granted to the purchaser.

INTEREST WILL BE CHARGED AT ONLY TWO PER CENT, PER ANNUM.

As a security for the performance of the contract, the first payment must be made and the Government patent must be registered that one-tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be brought under cultivation. Longer credits at six per cent, per annum may be negotiated by special application. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be allowed for cash, for which case the Company's Conference Bonds will be received as cash.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rates of interest charged for these lands, will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent. In the most honest sense of the word, the country will probably have increased their value four or five-fold. When required, an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information and aid in selecting lands.

Large Plats, showing the precise location of the lands, with Maps of the State, can be seen at the office. Pocket Plats, as a guide to a part of the Company's lands, and pamphlets, containing information and extracts from a numerous letters from respectable farmers throughout the State, may be had on application at the office of the Company, No. 51 MICHIGAN-AVE., CHICAGO.

Land Agent Illinois Central Railroad Co.

Colored Convention.

The Convention held in Zion church, Sullivan, between Bleecker & Bond, President in the Chair, W. H. Harrison, and is partially filled, business before the meeting, opened the proceedings of the Convention with prayer, after which the following preamble and resolutions were adopted by the Convention:

Whereas, The Almighty Creator has ordained a certain plan and course for man in this life, whose duties and rights are as well man's highest good and happiness as the glory of the Creator; and has the endowed him with capacity equal to the task, when under the guidance of reason and revelation, to understand and fulfill the duties and rights of his station in life, and to shape his circumstances in the way of the same, by which alone he can be prepared for his future state; and

Whereas, That personal slavery, whether the slavery of the body or of the mind, are the first and greatest of all obstacles in the way of moving in the sphere and of obeying the end Divinely marked out for man, and denounced by him;

Resolved, That neither more nor less than the individual man has any right, either by an organic law or any other arrangement, to deny mental say one, except for crime, or any class of his fellows, any chance in the free and full exercise of the capacity with which an Almighty Creator has endowed them;

Resolved, That the disfranchisement by the State of any of its citizens, on account of a personality laid them with disabilities and bars, is a violation of the rights of their Divine endowment, and a sin against the highest good of the man himself and the State;

Resolved, That a disability to the individual citizen in a free State, is as far as the individual citizen is concerned, part of the State; on the other hand, proceeding from the individuality of mind, in morals, and in physical condition, is progress to the State;

Resolved, That a State which does this cripples its own energies, in so far as it cripples the energies and extends the power of every individual or class of her citizens.

Messrs. Simmons, Garnison, Ennis, Ray, and Pennington, contested the foregoing resolutions in short speeches of ten minutes each.

Fires.

[illegible] over $15,000.

The large six-story building No. 9 Baxter-street was with its contents, totally destroyed by fire, about 6 o'clock last evening. The entire loss insured for over $15,000. The building was occupied by Calvin Kinsey as a cigar-box manufactory, and by Amos R. Kennedy, as a chair manufactory. The loss of Mr. Kinsey is estimated at about $5,000 on his stock and machinery. Mr. Kinsey also owned the building, which was estimated as worth $3,000. The loss of Mr. K. is believed to be partly covered by insurance.

The loss of Mr. Kennedy is estimated at $2,000, upon which he has no insurance. A horse belonging to Mr. Kinsey was burnt to death. The west wall of the building, No. 9 fell, crushing the adjoining frame building; loss, about $500. The fire was discovered issuing from the second floor of the building. The firemen were very soon on hand, but owing to the combustible materials with which the building was stored, it was impossible to save it from destruction.

FIRE IN A SIXTH WARD SCHOOL HOUSE.

The school house No. 1, on the corner of Grove and Hudson streets, was discovered to be on fire about 12 o'clock yesterday, in the basement, formerly used as the primary school department; but since the reshing and raising of the edifice another story, it has been used by the Superintendent of School Buildings, Mr. Moyer, as a store room for a mass of old and worthless lumber belonging to the Board of Education. The fire was traced to a stove from this inflammable material, which soon filled the house with a dense cloud of hot smoke.

Mr. Kennedy ordered the doors of his department closed the instant that the alarm was given, and directed his first assistant to go down and see how the fire was situated, while he himself walked to the next alarm-box, and on the return of his messenger with the facts, opened the door and passed the boys out, one by one, in perfect order. There were over 200 boys present, all of whom were passed out in less than three minutes.

The girls' department was vacated in the same orderly manner, also the Primary Department. There are about 1,200 children in the building, all of whom passed out, with a single exception, safely. The fire was quickly extinguished by the grounds. A hose was run through the door of the Primary School, and streams of water found down upon the burning mass. Also other streams were thrown in at the side windows. The books and some of the children's clothing were removed.

No water was thrown into either of the upper departments, and the Primary was but partially wet. The fire continued over an hour, and at one time seemed to defy the utmost efforts of the Firemen. Immediately after the fire was mastered, the Secretary of the Board of Education arrived, and workmen were set to work, and when we left the house at dark last night it was in order to receive the classes.

The Board held a meeting last night at 7 o'clock, and decided to open the school as usual at 9 o'clock this (Friday) evening.

Dr. David Parmelee, Miss Isabella McCosh, and Mr. G. Buchwalter, are the principals in charge.

FIRE IN A STABLE.

About 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, a fire broke out in a stable in the rear of No. 45 King-street, and did about $150 damage. Its origin is unknown.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

Another dull day at the Police Courts yesterday. Not any cases of interest were at the Jefferson Market Court.

The Tombs.

At the Lower Police Court an interesting case, involving a

CHARGE OF DEFRAUDING AN ACTRESS,

was examined before Justice Connolly. The charge was made against two men named J. H. Allen and John Constable. The complainant, an actress of some celebrity, named La Belle Adams, set forth in her affidavit that some months ago, she, in company with her husband, arrived in this City, from Baltimore. Soon after meeting here Mr. Adams died suddenly, leaving his wife, the complainant, almost destitute. To bury him in a becoming manner she was compelled to raise a loan of $100 on her wardrobe from a man named Coz. In exchange for the money thus obtained she gave Coz a bill of sale for the wardrobe. Coz sold the bill of sale to J. H. Allen, an usher at the National Theatre. Mrs. Adams, not approving of this transfer, brought the matter before Justice Francis, who decided that Allen should give up the wardrobe on the complainant paying the sum for which it was pledged. La Belle loaned from a Mr. Skiff with whom she was then boarding, the amount necessary to redeem her property, and gave a note to Skiff for such loan, and thus the matter rested for a time. Some time after, however, by some means or other the note or bond given to Skiff came into the possession of John Constable, who sold it to Allen for cash. Allen then took possession of the property and refused to deliver it up, whereupon a complaint for conspiracy to defraud was made against him and Constable. Allen was arrested and held to answer yesterday in the sum of $1,000. Constable has not yet been taken in custody.

A Store Robbed of its Contents.

On Wednesday night, a small bookstore, at No. 130 Bleecker-street, was entered by means of false keys, and from thence an entrance was effected into the adjoining store, No. 128, occupied by Lyons & Gibbons, jewelers, by cutting a hole through the wall. Jewelry to the amount of about $5,000, embracing nearly all the stock on hand, was taken away by the burglars, of whom as yet, no clue has been discovered.

MARINE COURT.

Before Judge Thompson.

SUITS COMMENCED.

Gardner vs. Greene.—This was an action in the nature of replevin, and occupied the Court for two days. On Wednesday night the Court charged the Jury, and said they might bring in a sealed verdict. He also privately informed the officer, that if the Jury should not agree by 6 o'clock, they might be discharged. About 4 o'clock the Jury handed a sealed packet to the officer, which yesterday he handed to the Court, and on being opened it read as follows:

"We the Jurors in this case, agree to disagree." Signed by the Foreman.

His Honor directed that the Jurors must come now and assign why they should not be punished for contempt.

Would it not be well for those who intend spending the festivities of their mansions to their friends on New-Year's Day, to obtain a supply of Meacham's Lemon German Gin for their tables? Recommended as a beverage, it at the same time possesses qualities which render it of great value to the invalid, especially to those suffering from pulmonary complaints. More of it will be imbibed on New-Year's Day than of any other kind of beverage.—New-York Mercury.

Meacham's Lemon German Gin is sold by all respectable druggists, hotel keepers and grocers.

LONG ISLAND.

German Respited.

Gorman, now in the Kings County Jail, under sentence of death for killing the brothers Johnson, and who was to have been executed to-day, in accordance with the sentence of the Court, has been respited until the 18th Jauary next.

A large number of influential citizens of Brooklyn, a majority of the Jury who tried Gorman, petitioned the Governor to have the sentence commuted to imprisonment for life. They failed, and then an effort was made for a respite, and a few days since Alexander Hadden, Esq., Gorman's counsel, proceeded to Albany, and yesterday a dispatch was received from him by telegraph, that a respite had been granted as above stated. It is believed that such a state of facts can be laid before the Governor as will warrant him in commuting the sentence to imprisonment for life. When the Jury agreed upon a verdict, it is said that it was with the express understanding that he should not suffer the extreme penalty of the law—that otherwise, they never would have agreed to render the verdict they did.

Managing the Press—What a Puff's Worth.

POLICE COURT—BROOKLYN.

Before Henry F. Cutch, Justice.

Pierce Shelton vs. Patrick O'Neil.—The defendant (Alderman elect of the Fifth Ward) is the projector of a plan for the relief of Broadway, by an elevated railway, which was exhibited at the Crystal Palace, and the plaintiff claimed $75 for services which he alleged he had rendered, at Mr. O'Neil's request, in attending at the Palace and exhibiting the model, and particularly in writing several letters and procuring their insertion in the public prints.

The plaintiff appeared in person, and the defendant was present with his counsel, Alexander McCue, Esq.

It was the eloquent voice of the latter doing justice to one of the plaintiff's productions which attracted our reporter's attention as he passed the City Court Room, and malgré, the shrewdly disgraceful on this occasion, he did enter, and soon ascertained the above state of facts, and that it was a Jury trial.

It certainly could not be objected to the articles that they were "not strong enough," and some of the high-flown and descriptive language excited considerable merriment in Court.

Mr. O'Donnell, for the plaintiff, testified that he would not write such letters under any deliberation.

Mr. Swartwout, for the defendant, said he had seen them frequently, and had rendered such services gratuitously.

The defendant himself was called on the stand, [illegible] that he had employed the plaintiff to [illegible]. One of [illegible] was shown [illegible] Mr. O'Neil admitted he had seen a copy [illegible] in the New-York Tribune, but said he, part [illegible] is a production of mine.

Mr. McCue—I would not dispute the authorship [illegible].

To show the applicability of the articles in question, a plan of the proposed railroad was produced. [illegible] that's poetry of language, either did not [illegible] his powers of writing, or his better judgment [illegible] the policy (in contemplation of the Jury) of sending himself to a few straight-forward remarks in support of the claim for the work and labor done and time devoted to the defendant's interests.

The Justice charged the Jury that the question for them was, whether it was done at the defendant's request, and if so, what was the value.

He then directed Officer Williams to take them to some "fit and convenient place," &c.

Officer—Shall I take them to the cellar?

Judge—I don't know. Some fit and convenient place.

The officer accordingly locked them up with some coals, in an adjacent cellar, for a few minutes—on emerging, whence they rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for $40.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Before Judge Paden.

In the absence of Judge Strong, who was engaged in the General Term in New-York on Tuesday, the above named Judge from that District, occupied his place in this Court.

The City of Williamsburg vs. Jonathan D. Holbrook, &c.—The presiding Judge having been professionally engaged in this case for the defendant, who was formerly Collector of Williamsburg, and alleged to be a defaulter—the cause went over by consent for the term.

Several cases were disposed of without a Jury, and a few were run down.

Judge Paendy will probably preside to-day.

CITY COURT.

James Boutin vs. James Cox.—An action for trespass. The plaintiff as owner of certain premises leased them to the defendant, who removed a floor. The title to the real estate being necessarily a part of the case, it was necessary to bring the action in a superior Court, though the damages claimed were small, being only the expenses incurred in laying the floor anew.

Verdict for the plaintiff; damages $24 16, which carried costs.

John Darling, Executor, &c., vs. The City of Brooklyn.—An action brought to recover the amount of three warrants of $1,000 each, and one certificate of $200, issued by the Trustees of the late village of Williamsburg, on account of contract for North Second-street. Verdict for plaintiff for amount with interest, $4,210 88.

Patrick McFadey vs. James H. Prentice.—This case occupied the attention of the Court for two days, and was submitted to the Jury yesterday. The plaintiff, who sues by his guardian, was bound apprentice to the defendant, a hatter. The indentures and that which purports to be a counterpart differ in terms—one expiring eight months before the other—defendant claiming that the plaintiff was bound until he was 21, which corresponds with period expressed in his copy. The plaintiff abiding by the copy he held, quitted defendant's service at the expiration of the shorter term, and now sues for damages, alleging that he had not been duly taught the art, craft and mystery of hat-making. Verdict for plaintiff, $240.

NEW-JERSEY.

Fire on a Railroad Train.

Murder and Lynch Law in Corpus Christi.

From the New-Orleans Picayune.

We have received the following communication from a friend, giving an account of a murder which was committed in Corpus Christi, on the 1st inst., and of the subsequent lynching of the offender:

Corpus Christi, Texas, Dec. 1, 1855.

This morning, about sun-up, screams and cries of murder were heard in what is called the "Mexican part" of our town. On going to the spot, I found one Mexican dead and two women bleeding, they having been cut, and the man killed, with a knife in the hands of another Mexican. Cause, jealousy.

The community is much excited, and a meeting of all the citizens is called at the Mayor's office, at 12 o'clock to-day. The Mexican who committed the deed is now in prison. A crowd assembled at the Mayor's office at 12 o'clock, when it was announced that the offender should be tried at 2 o'clock, before Justice Wightman. The crowd dispersed peaceably. At 3 o'clock the trial took place, and the Justice remanded the prisoner into the custody of the Sheriff, to be held for trial at the next term of the regular Court.

Dec. 2.—Last night a number of persons unknown entered the jail and took out the prisoner, led him about half a mile from the town, where they hung him to a tree. He still hangs there, and the handcuffs are yet on him. The reasons for their action as believed are, first, the enormity of the crime; second, no secure jail for his safe keeping. The necessity for such acts are always to be regretted, yet it were better that vicious men should receive their just punishment, rather than turned loose upon society to seek other victims. PEOKA.

The Grocer's Bank Affair at Boston.

From the Boston Daily Times.

At the time of the disappearance of Mr. Kilbourn, many supposed that he had left for Europe, instead of committing suicide, and there are facts now come to light which would go to prove such to be the case. It will be remembered that the letter which he left behind indicated that he had thrown himself from Cambridge bridge. It appears, however, that a day or two before his disappearance he purchased of a leading money firm on State-street, bills of exchange on Europe to the amount of nearly ten thousand dollars, paying with memorandum checks of French, Wells & Co. It is now supposed that with these bills in his pocket he proceeded to Europe. In confirmation of this suspicion, we learn that the wife of Mr. Kilbourn received by the last steamer at New-York, a letter from her husband, announcing his arrival in England. So there need be no more hope of a job for the coroners on his account.

The rumors to which we alluded on Saturday, of a defalcation on the part of Mr. Thayer, the Cashier of the Grocers' Bank, are, we regret to say, well founded. Mr. Thayer has, we understand, in some way converted to his own use some ten thousand of balances due the country banks, the proceeds of which, it is said, he has loaned to a friend who has failed, and thus deprived him of the power to restore the amount. The bank will not lose anything by this new trouble, as Mr. Thayer's bonds are ample to cover the amount of his defalcation.

Mysterious Disappearance of Bank Bills.

From the Boston Journal.

Within a short time past nearly $10,000 have disappeared in effecting the exchanges between some of our State-street banks. The particulars, as we learn, are as follows: As our readers are aware, an exchange of the bills of other banks held by the banks in this city, is effected by many at the commencement of business for the day. For this purpose there is at the Suffolk Bank a box for each of the other banks, in which the bills of these several banks are placed, and from which they are taken by the messengers of the respective banks. On Thursday morning last, the messenger of the Washington Bank went as usual to make his exchanges. The box at the Suffolk was emptied as usual into his bag and he proceeded to the Washington Bank, where, on counting the bills, the sum of seven thousand dollars was found to be missing. The Suffolk Bank contends that it delivered to the messenger of the Washington the full sum due that Bank. The messenger—whose integrity is firmly established—says he delivered all that he received, to the Cashier of his own Bank. Where the bills have gone to is a question which has not yet been solved, and in the meantime an interesting question arises, which Bank is to bear the loss.

We also understand that a mysterious disappearance of a similar nature has occurred between the Suffolk Bank and the Merchants' Bank. The amount is $2,500. The Suffolk Bank claims to be able to show that the bills were delivered. The Merchants' Bank never received them. Thus the matter stands at present. The whole affair is wrapped in a deep mystery, which all the efforts to solve have thus far been in vain.

Shocking Affair—The Fruits of Spiritualism.

From the Phila. Evening Bulletin.

This morning, at an early hour, much excitement was created in the Second Ward, by the attempt of a man named John Crowley to murder his mother, Mrs. Mary Crowley. The family resides in Mechanic-street, near Parker. This morning John entered the chamber of his mother, armed with a hatchet, and struck her upon the head with the weapon while she was lying in bed. The hatchet was fortunately dull, and the wound inflicted was not serious. The mother clutched at the weapon, and the son attempted to cut off her hand. Her cries finally brought her husband to her assistance, and the son escaped half-dressed from the house during the confusion.

Mrs. Crowley received two wounds in the head, and one in the wrist, but neither are considered dangerous. A report was current, during the morning, that the mother had died from her injuries, but there is no truth in the story. The son was subsequently found wandering about Independence-square. He was arrested and placed in the Railway at the City Hall.

It seems that the would-be suicide has been in some strange state, the result of Spiritualism, for some years. Lately he had moved more with these people, and took the hatchet to bed with him, without the knowledge of the rest of the family. This morning he attacked his mother, as has been already stated, for the purpose of "sending her home," as he said. He will probably be sent to the Alms-house, or to the Pennsylvania Hospital, and arrangements to that effect are being made.

Australian Steam Navigation Company.

From the Portland Advertiser.

Capt. Harrison, of the Cunard steamship Africa, was in town yesterday, for the purpose of making certain observations in reference to the channels and sounding of our harbor, in view of the expected voyage to this port of the Australian Steam Navigation Company's mammoth steamer, of which Capt. H. is to be commander.

Mr. Alexander M. Ross, Mr. Holmes, Mr. Brown, and other officers of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, together with Lieut. Franklin, of the Light-house Service, and several shipmasters of this port, made a short excursion with Capt. Harrison down the harbor, taking the opportunity to verify the most important soundings laid down on the Coast Survey Chart. These soundings were found to be accurately stated at all the points examined.

Sailing of the U. S. Steamer St. Louis.—We learn that the U. S. Mail steamship St. Louis sailed from Hampton Roads on Saturday, for Panama, with about 500 troops attached to the Ninth U. S. Infantry, who have for some time been stationed at Fort Monroe, under the command of Col. Wright. On their arrival at Panama they will embark on one of the Pacific steamers for San Francisco, and on reaching that port will proceed to the scene of the Indian disturbances on the frontiers of California and Oregon. The officers and men left in good health and fine trim for active and efficient operations in the "disturbed district." We shall, no doubt, in due season, receive favorable accounts of their valor in the distant field to which they have been assigned. The St. Louis also took out a large extra mail for California and Oregon.—Balt. Sun.

Powder Explosion.—As a teamster, James Murray, with a two-horse wagon, was carting powder from one building to another on the 20th ultimo, at Hazard's powder mills in Enfield, the load exploded, tearing wagon, horses and driver to atoms. There was about a ton of powder on the wagon, and so powerful was the explosion that an arched bridge over a canal, on which the wagon happened to be when the explosion took place, was depressed about three feet. The powder was in half barrels without any heads to them—so that it was exposed.—Hartford Courant.

The Foreign mails by the Asia, at Boston, from Liverpool Dec. 6, were received at our Public Office this afternoon at 6 o'clock. The newspaper and circular market advices had been substantially anticipated by the telegraphic summary from Halifax, though their general tone is, if possible, more encouraging in regard to the Public Funds in Paris and London, and the Cotton trade at Liverpool and Manchester. It appears that Consols rated in the course of the week as high as 90¾ ⅌ cent., and closed on Friday for the January account at 90¾. The books were closed on the cash transfers, and after this steamer the quotations will come over ex-dividend 1¾ ⅌ cent. In Paris the 3 ⅌ cents attained 67.75 before dividend, and the shares of the Crédit Mobilier 1,380 francs for 500 francs paid in. After the books closed on the Three ⅌ cents in Paris, very heavy differences were paid to carry over stock to the openings, shewing the confidence of the speculators for a rise. Money keeps dear in both capitals, though not so inaccessible to borrowers as a few weeks previous; in Paris, 5@6 ⅌ cent.; in London, 5½@6 ⅌ cent. The Bank of England statement to Dec. 1 shows an increase, as stated before, of $485,000 in Gold, and the following week, ending Dec. 8, about $1,200,000 additional is stated to have gone into the vault from the Australian receipts. The statement also shows that the Bank is increasing its mercantile accommodations, and that it has the ability to do so from the enhanced reserve of Bank notes unemployed.
